

What is Cyclos (CYS)?

Cyclos is an automated market maker that brings Uniswap V3-style concentrated liquidity to Solana.

As AMMs compete for order execution on Serum, two factors are most important:

- #1 Order volume - larger sell orders mean higher profits for LPs
- #2 Order distribution - profit is obtained only when orders are fulfilled; placing liquidity at the optimal price intervals increases usage of the LP's funds

By bringing concentrated liquidity to the AMM space on Solana, Cyclos brings the intelligence of the masses to orderbook liquidity by allowing LPs to concentrate their funds at chosen price intervals.

Unlike other AMMs, Cyclos allows LPs to select the exact price ranges at which their liquidity is active. By creating depth of liquidity around the predicted market price of an asset, larger orders can be executed at an optimized price. Further, LPs are offered greater protection from impermanent loss. Once an asset exits the LP's price interval, the liquidity becomes inactive. Further, LPs can place their liquidity at multiple price intervals to deploy capital even more strategically.

A better AMM experience

Concentrated liquidity allows liquidity providers (LPs) to allocate funds within a custom price range, maximizing capital efficiency and asset pricing

Range limit orders: LPs provide a single token within a custom price range above or below current market price

Enhanced market rationality to order books- LPs incentivized to open positions where they believe liquidity will be most active

Less exposure to impermanent loss for LPs

Traders access deeper liquidity, LPs earn higher yields

Cyclos is built exclusively using the Solana blockchain, providing unparalleled speed and scalability
